PREFACE.

THE motto which we have chosen as the text of THE ROYAL ACADEMY ILLUSTRATED—"Populi judicanto"—Let the people judge—exactly expresses the summit of our wishes in regard to the accompanying venture.

The idea of publishing an illustrated catalogue of the Royal Academy of 1884 was only conceived three weeks prior to the opening day of the Exhibition, but, thanks to the ready and kindly assistance afforded us by the artists themselves, not a moment was lost.

Had time allowed, our list of sketches would have been increased threefold or even more, so great was the interest shown in the undertaking. We have already planned out special arrangements for next year, by which we shall be enabled to present a completed work within a week of the opening day of the Royal Academy.

We tender our best and most grateful thanks to the numerous exhibitors and others who have so greatly assisted us in the rapid task of compilation. It will be perceived that the plan adopted has been to follow the consecutive galleries and numbers of the Official Catalogue, so as to simplify the labour of tracing out each particular picture. The sizes and prices of pictures are also inserted under each illustration.

We trust that THE ROYAL ACADEMY ILLUSTRATED may prove a pleasant souvenir of a great Art Exhibition.

SPECIAL NOTICE TO ARTISTS.

INTENDING CONTRIBUTORS to the Academy of 1885 are cordially invited to correspond with the Editor of "THE ROYAL ACADEMY ILLUSTRATED," at least three months before the date of sending in their pictures.

The ways of fate . . . . . .
Eating in beggar's guise the scanty meal,
Subduing that fair body born, for bliss,
With fast and frequent meditation so prolonged,
That oftimes as he mused—as motionless
As the fixed rock his seat—the blue doves pecked
The rice-grains from the bowl beside his hand."
